“...genuine show-stoppers...Footworks, the wonderfully animated and unpredictable dance troupe and string band. Clogging, flat-footing, and hooting its way through an enormously crowd-pleasing performance...came across as the Bolshoi of barn dancing.”

“...they generally had more fun than seemed legal... these human drums deftly execute their sometimes goofy, sometimes intricate terpsichorean patterns...the power of the human spirit at play. Their ability to entertain to educate, to engage the audience was purely a function of their passion for their art form.”

“...a brilliant dance troupe...with one foot in tradition and the other in innovation.”

Earle Hitchner

“The rough-hewn vigor of the choreography and the eruptive joy of Footworks dancers are as contagious as laughter...the dancers rode an unending rhythmic current...playful ease...whip-sharp timing and devilishly tricky footwork...”

Sarah Kaufman
The Washington Post

“The sheer rhythmic and visual magic of percussive dance troupe Footworks – soon to join the Riverdance show in London – kicking out a dazzling array of hard shoe clogging routines from around the world, match breathtaking physical talents with brilliantly imaginative choreography.”
